SEVEN MILLIONS SAW BALL GAMES

The greatest baseball season in the his tory of the major leagues has just closed, 7,246,354 persons seeing the combined games of the National and American leagues. These figures are combined after pareful compilation, and obtained from

For the first time since 1901, the first year of the invasion of the East by the American League, the Nationals outdrew their rivals. The grand total of the National League was 3,634,988, while the American drew 3,611,366 showing 23,622 difference in the National's favor. In 1907, the American League outdrew the National by 60.971, which shows an increase can League, with a grand total of 636,096, while St. Louis was second, with the grand total of 618,947, this being the greatest season the Browns ever had,

The Chicago Nationals proved to be the best drawing team on the road, making an average of 8437. The New York Giants were not far behind, though, when they vergged 8193. Detroit was the best road team in the American League, with an average of 7847 to a game. Cleveland was cond with an average of 7063.

The western clubs of the American League drew 2,113,504 to the eastern cities' total of 1,497,862 while the eastern ities of the National League drew 1,860,-020 to the western cities' total of 1,774,968. The large Sunday attendance increases the western figures at least one-third.

The largest crowd at a single game was at the Polo Grounds, New York, on Octoper 8th, when the Cubs and Giants met not a single estimate falling below 35,000. The smallest crowd of the season was at the Athletics' grounds on October 2d, when 260 paid to see the game.

The most remarkable feature during the season was the tremendous turnouts at the twenty-two games played between 250,000 persons saw the Cubs at the Polo rounds, New York, while in eleven games at Chicago 185,978 turned out. On nly two of the twenty-two games were the figures single. These figures do not nclude world's championship or exhibi-

The members of the reception commit tee, four hundred strong and carrying flags, had previously marched from the Young Men's Republican Club in King street, to Seventh, to Market and thence to the stand, where they were seated. Thousands had gathered upon the court house green, along Market and King streets, in the windows of buildings and ome even had taken to the tree tops. Many carried flags, and though the sur was hidden by a smoky haze the stately court house with its decorations and crowds formed a pretty background for the thousands gathered upon the lawn.

As the Taft party proceeded up Market street the court house bell pealed forth a welcome, and cheer after cheer arose from hundreds of throats. As the mounted police wheeled into tenth street and drove the eager throngs back to the ropes those in the stand arose and waved flags while a mighty yell went up from the great assemblage.

AFTER RIGHTS OF WAY

Wilmington bankers are just learning o he formation of a gigantic interurban electric railway project which is to inter ect the State from Wilmington to Del mar and is to parallel and compete with the Delaware Railroad Company for both passenger and freight business. company is to be known as the Delaware Central Railway Company, and is being financed by a New York banking syndi

Exact details of the financing arrange nents are yet lacking and even the name of the syndicate members are shrouded in mystery, for the promoters are working with an unusual degree of secrecy. Those who have been approached with a view of securing their interest in the project have not learned the names of the backers of the enterprise.

It is known, however, that the pr noters have mapped out their plans horoughly and are actively at work seuring the necessary rights of way and nancial connections. Maps exhibited to hose approached show that the proposed ompany plans to touch New Castle, Middletown, Townsend, Smyrna, Dover, Harington and Milford, with a branch to Lewes and Rehoboth, and that the north and south terminals will be in Wilmington and Delmar, respectively. Power ouses are to be built in Wilmington and myrna. Headquarters of the company will be in Wilmington It is understood that the new company as no connection with the projected en erprise on similar lines engineered by J. Edward Addicks several years ago and thich was eventually abandoned.

Whether the organization of the con pany has been completed is not known as the promoters have not yet filed articles will be taken out shortly after election.

A NEW METHOD

Pennsylvania Railroad officials are making arrangements for a new method of collecting tickets and fares from all Freeman (Route 2.), Mr. Frank Green, passengers which will be similar to the Mr. Louies Mckinely, F. Moreton Lisdale. pay as you enter system adopted by a The Grand Lodge of Delaware, I. O. O. number of the electric lines in the differ-F., will meet in 74th annual session at ent cities. The object of this change is the arrest of persons alleged to have been selling tickets illegally is said to be partially responsible for the movement Under the present arrangement tickets are collected by the conductor at the and of the run. For instance, through tickets from Washington to New York are collected by the conductor on the New York Division. In the case unearthed last week by the Pennsylvania, persons to whom the tickets were sold illegally, were instructed to leave the train before it reached New York, and in this way the tickets were not turned over to the auditing department. If plans being discussed at present are carried out, tickets will be lifted shortly after the train starts and each passenger will be provided with an exchange slip. Under this arrangement rail tickets sold by the ticket agent or scalper, will be turned over to the auditing department and any scheme to defrand the railroad company will be nipped in the bud. It is likely that the change will become general.

LETTER TO LUNDY BROS

Dear Sir: Two men on opposite sides of the same street sell sausages, one at 10c lb, the other at 5. Which sells the more

The answer is: It depends on the street. There are plenty of streets in the world where 5c sausages go like the wind. Devoe is an honest paint; there are eight honest paints, 200 adulterated and short-measure; Devoe is the best of the eight. Devoe has more strength than the other seven. The painter adds generally a quart of oil to Devoe; he still has a stronger paint than any other one of The seven are sold at one price $1.75 a gallon; a common price of second rate paint is $150. It takes 8 gallons Devoe to paint a small house, and 12 of average paint; 8 gallons cost less than 12; the price is more than offset by less gallons.

It costs $2 to $4 a day to get paint on; a day is a gallon: $8 to $16 more to naint the more-gallons paint; $8 to $16 less for painting the less-gallons paint. The difference in first cost of the two jobs is $14 to $22 and which wears best do you think? It's the less-gallons paint cause of its strength. There are plenty of people to buy thos
